A ‘peace-sensitive’ tourism, containing all elements of a sustainable, responsible, ethical and ‘all-inclusive’ (involvement of local stakeholders and local issues) tourism, ‘carves out’ options for different stakeholders on their potential contributions to peace.

Tourism and ‘Culture of Peace’
- Experience of the other and otherness (contact hypothesis)
- Maintaining identity and opening minds
- Cross-border tourism (narratives of both sides)
- Peace tourism - travels to places of peace and peace-makers

Main Finding

Tourist Education:
- Role of Guides, guidebooks and media sources for travelers
- Tourism and Cosmopolitism: Global Citizenship Education

Tourism Education:
Curricula on tourism & peace and conflict prevention

Recommendations
- Research
- Elaboration of modules of tourism & peace

Economic/Environment

Economic Empowerment for peaceful societies and Environmental sustainability
- Creation of jobs
- Poverty eradication
- Income generation
- Increased self-determination and self-esteem
- Environmental sustainability

Tool for:
- Democratization
- Reconciliation
- Inclusion of armed groups
- Conflict Prevention Processes (e.g. Peace Parks in cross-border zones)

Recommendations
- Research on economic impact of tourism on conflicts and post-conflict contexts, etc.

More research on specific aspects, e.g. Private sector engagement in conflict-affected contexts, elaboration of curricula on tourism & peace, etc.

Raising Awareness
on ‘Tourism- A Tool- in- Peace Building’ among public, private and civil sector and international community, in particular in conflict and post-conflict areas (project development)

Cooperation and networking with international and national peace-building institutions

Next Steps

Next steps

Results and Products

Results and Products

Raising Awareness

Recommendations
- Research
- Awareness Raising

Next Steps